

The Prelude

MAY 2013

From the Dean

Dear friends,

We've had a wonderful couple of weeks with our AGO chapter; if you weren't able to be at our events, please read about them now!

The student recital on Sunday April 14 at Trinity Episcopal was really glorious: five performers, all working at their best ability, played on a recently installed Casavant in a wonderfully reverberant space- does it get any better? I want to thank Michael Gartz, organist, and Wayne Anthony, director of music, for hosting us in that church. Thanks also to Neil Kraft and Martha Gregory for helping to provide the reception. And, as always, thanks to Pam Davis for organizing the event: securing the venue, scheduling practice time, liaising with the Trinity staff, and generally making it happen! Brian Bogdanowitz took pictures; please read his write-up!

On Friday April 19 a small group of us trekked to Columbus to see, hear and play five fabulous organs. What a day that was! I always tell people that each pipe organ is unique in how it looks, sounds, and feels, but this was a great way to experience that truth. My students learned more in a day of exploring than I could teach in a week of lecturing, I am sure. In addition to seeing and playing the instruments, we were able to do some crawling and climbing. We saw tracker actions, a bell tower, a rank of 16' pedal pipes hung upside down (at St. Agatha's) to allow them to speak through the façade and the rather small chamber opening. At the cathedral we turned off the electric blower and pumped the bellows ourselves. Just seeing the stack of 6 wedge bellows is impressive; being responsible for keeping them full of air is a daunting task!

Our thanks for this opportunity go first and foremost to Sub Dean Neil Kraft, who planned the day, contacted the churches and their musicians, organized the transportation, and communicated with all of us. He kept us on schedule and even drove the van! Thanks, Neil!!

Our final chapter event for this program year is our annual banquet. Here are the details:

CAPITAL CITY ORGAN EXCURSION

Just after 8 a.m. on Friday, April 19th, ten of our chapter members headed south toward Columbus. Even though it was a rainy and blustery morning around Toledo we were excited to be off to see some interesting pipe organs in Ohio's capital. However, it was interesting to note how much milder the weather was "down south!"

All told we visited four very different churches with very contrasting pipe organs. Our first stop was in the suburb of Upper Arlington and the large stone Church of St. Agatha. We were welcomed by Michael Vicario who is the current music director and organist. Former choral director Bridgid Kinney was also present to greet us. She was on the staff when the Bedient organ was installed in 2005. The organ is a large 2 manual organ of 45 ranks with a very French classic voice which blooms in the generous acoustic. All the participants enjoyed playing the instrument and exploring the pipe chambers.

Our next stop was King Avenue United Methodist Church which is just south of the OSU campus. The church is an interesting older building with a dome, a couple balconies, a large rear gathering/fellowship space and big square tower. On the right side of the chancel and built into the base of the tower is a 47 rank, three manual Buzard pipe organ from 2010. The organ is quite colorful and full-bodied in tone and speaks with a definite English cathedral "accent." Andrew Willis, the organist of the church, was our gracious host. He also took interested folks up into the tower to see and play the clavier that controls over twenty historic bells.

At this point of the day we journeyed to German Village to enjoy lunch at Schmidt's Restaurant. Schmidt's is certainly a popular landmark in Columbus and a popular destination for anyone who enjoys German cuisine, and even those who don't! I didn't hear any complaints from our group!

The afternoon brought us to St. Joseph Cathedral on Broad Street and face to face with the dazzling new Fritts organ in the rear gallery. Paul Thornock, music director and organist, was our host and guide. The organ is a large mechanical action three manual organ based on historic European organ building principles. It was pointed out though, that the instrument plays the music of most all musical schools and periods convincingly. It is daunting just to sit at the console and select from the multitude of stops, and then master the flat pedalboard! The college students in our group enjoyed pumping the bellows that can supply the wind without the use of the electric blower. Maybe one of the most notable features of the instrument is the ornate baroque case, including cherubs, and also its rich red finish.

Our last stop of the day was a few blocks further east on Broad Street at the First Congregational Church. Newly installed music director and organist, Kevin Jones, was our host. Some of us have known Kevin since his youth. First Church houses its original 1931 four manual rich and glorious Kimball organ of nearly seventy ranks in the chancel. This organ has just recently benefited from a complete restoration. The church also features a very fine von Beckerath mechanical action organ in the rear gallery from 1972. This organ has become quite famous over the years from the many concerts by famous organists given on it in the church's yearly concert series. This organ has three manuals, a horizontal trumpet and a ruckpositiv on the gallery rail.

Our Capital City Excursion was definitely a grand outing! Everyone who participated gained some new insights into the King of Instruments. We certainly learned that there are organ builders out there providing us with a wide range of options. I forgot to ask everyone their favorite instrument of the day. I'm sure each organ would have received some votes!

CONGRATULATIONS RECITALISTS!

On Sunday, March 14th, the scholarship winners and past winners presented a concert at Trinity Episcopal Church in downtown Toledo. The organ was fantastic, the performers were outstanding and the acoustics of the building added to the exciting experience of hearing some of our youngest organists perform. Dennis Johns played excerpts from Suite Medievale by Langlais. Sara Tobe played Prelude in E Minor by Bruhns. Stephen Smith played two pieces by Walther, Lobe den Herren, den machtign Konig and In dulci Jubilo, also Toccat from Suite Gothique by Boellmann. Melissa Flowers played Wondrous Love by Barber. And closing the program was Garrett Law playing Franck, Prelude, Fugue and Variation, closing with Prelude in B Major, Op. 7, No. 1 By Dupre. All received a very enthusiastic applause from a very appreciative audience. Refreshments were served after the concert where everyone got to meet and chat with the performers.

SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE

On April 14 our student organists put on a great recital for a modest crowd of about 50 people, and we brought in $302 for the scholarship fund.

Now we need future students. It's not too late to think about the next scholarship auditions in October and what young people (7th-12th grade) you might know who would benefit from receiving a scholarship and organ lessons. And remember this is for adults too. Maybe you or someone you know has considered brushing up on playing skills for hymn playing or choral accompanying or even for AGO certification.

Audition requirements are: prepare two contrasting pieces and 1 hymn and sight-read a hymn. First timers may use the piano. Time and place are yet to be decided, and locations are being considered. Contact me if you have a suggested location or if you need further information, music@commofchrist.org.

Programme du stage

L'enseignement sera donné par deux professeurs :

Yves-G. Préfontaine
organiste à Montréal, Canada

Betty Maisonnat
organiste à Lyon

Venez vous perfectionner ou vous initier à l'orgue dans une ambiance détendue et sans esprit de compétition, quel que soit votre niveau.
Répartis en petits groupes, vous pourrez recevoir un enseignement sur mesure tous les matins, découvrir de nouvelles oeuvres et en approfondir d'autres, tout en profitant des concerts et des visites d'orgues. Les après-midi seront libres pour le travail personnel sur les orgues mis à disposition à Finhaut, Vernayaz, Salvan et Martigny (tous accessibles de façon très agréable par le train Mont-Blanc Express) ou pour les activités de loisirs.
Une demi-journée sera consacrée à visiter le Musée Suisse de l'orgue à Roche (VD).

Cinq concerts ouverts au public seront offerts aux stagiaires :
dimanche 4 août : à l'église de Finhaut par les deux professeurs (à 18h) lundi 5 : à l'église de Salvan par le Duo Alliance, violon et guitare (à 20h) mardi 6 : à l'église de Trient par les deux professeurs, orgue positif et clavecin (à 20h)
jeudi 8 : à l'église de Chamonix par Tobias Willi, président du jury du Concours de Composition Raymond Lonfat (à 18h, avec visite de l'orgue à 16h) vendredi 9 : à l'église de Finhaut par Guillaume Dorel, lauréat 2012 du Prix de Composition Raymond Lonfat (à 20h)

Il est recommandé aux stagiaires d'apporter leurs partitions, en cours d'étude à perfectionner ou nouvelles à aborder (ne pas oublier les chaussures d'orgue).

Les professeurs pourront faire connaître d'autres pièces de tous styles et de toutes époques pour enrichir leur répertoire. Ceux qui n'ont pas encore commencé l'étude de l'orgue mais ont un bon niveau de piano, apporteront une partition déjà maîtrisée, de préférence de musique baroque, afin que les professeurs puissent juger de leur niveau et aborder l'initiation à l'orgue.
